LOCAL AND GENERAL NEWS.

She Wanted a Brass Band

Mrs Ernest Prentice, of Indianapolis, died last week. Just before her demise she called her husband to her side and said she wanted to give some directions in regard to her funeral. She declared that she did not want a sermon preached over her remains and did not want any funeral ceremony whatever. She then directed that a full brass band should be employed and that it should play a sacred piece of music as she was being borne to the hearse and a dirge on the way to the cemetry, the funeral to be closed with another piece of sacred music at the grave. The directions were followed to the letter

DECATUR was visited Sunday by a party of eight young gentlemen from Maroa who came down on bicycles. In the party were David Gray, Frank Cooper, John Hardin, Henry Kent, Ed. Benson, Will Waller, Robert Nesbit and Frank Adams. There is a cicyling club of 22 members at Maroa, and all are swift wheelmen

Consumption.
Ballard's Horehound Syrup.

No single disease has played such sad havoc with the human race as Consumption. No other disease approaches so stealthily. Its early symptoms are ignored because it is thought only a Cold or hacking Cough which is neglected until this grim monster has such a hold that nothing but death can relieve it. Ballard's Horehound Syrup has removed the grip of this grim monster from many a throat. If taken in time it will effect a permanent cure and in the worst stages it will give surprising relief. Try its soothing and healing virtues. Do not put it off until too late. Sold by John A. Swearingen Druggist.

SHE HAS BOUGHT HER COFFIN

A Danville Woman Makes Her Own Funeral Arrangements

Mrs Mary Hendricks, of Danville, Ill, aged 81 years and hale and hearty, has made all arrangements for her funeral, and now she anxiously awaits the coming of the Angel of Death

Last Tuesday she went to an undertaking establishment and bought a beautiful coffin in which she wills that she shall be laid when the final summons comes. She has also purchased a monument, a lot in the cemetery and an iron fence with which to enclose it. She has buried two husbands, and now thinks she will be called to try the realities of another world for which she is fully prepared. She is apparently hale and hearty now, her mind is clear, but she feels and knows that the sands of life are slipping from beneath her feet

An Insane Woman Conquers an Army of City Officials on the Island

"There has been a marvelous change in the treatment of insane patients in our hospitals within the last five years," said H H Porter, the president of the board of commissioners of charities and correction, the other day. "Not long ago every patient was considered a candidate for the straightjacket or the cuffs if he was at all violent. Now we seldom have occasion to use either one. The change has come as a result of our increased facilities and accommodations. We are enabled to employ better nurses and caretakers and we find that persuasion is far more effective than force

"I remember a rather funny experience I had when Mayor Hewitt was in office. You know the old gentleman was very anxious to do the right thing in regard to appropriations for all the city institutions, and in order to understand the needs of each he made remarkably thorough and careful investigations. He sent word to us one day that he would inspect the insane asylums on the island the next day, so all the commissioners made arrangements to accompany him. When the time came there was just an army of us, for beside the mayor and the commissioners every paper in the city sent its representative

"We got along all right on the island until we came to the lodge where the most dangerous patients were kept. Here Mr Hewitt stopped and said 'I don't think we had better go in there—all of us—for we will probably excite the patients.' But none of the commissioners or reporters wanted to be left behind so we all went in, the reporters bringing up the rear

"There was a big German woman 32 years old confined there, with whom we had had considerable trouble. I thought she was safe out of the way, but when we opened the doors there she was straight before us. The crowd nettled her for a moment and then with a yell she rushed forward. There was a grand rush—the reporters turned tail and ran as fast as they could for the fence, while the commissioners streaked off in different directions and poor Mayor Hewitt, who could not get out of the way, was left facing the wild woman

"He did not stand long however, for in less time than I can tell it she hit him in the pit of his stomach and doubled him up on the floor, while his glasses flew clear across the room. The next instant the keepers had her in charge, and slowly the army of men gathered itself together. While the other commissioners were dusting the mayor off I handed him his glasses, and then he turned and looked at us reproachfully as he said, 'I told you so'"—New York Tribune

The June Bug Rampant

The bug is a very useful insect, but how objectionable it can make itself on occasions was shown by an incident which occurred one night on the Central railroad of New Jersey. The milk train was carrying two passenger coaches behind the milk cars, and as the night was warm the half dozen passengers aboard had the windows all raised. The train had been standing on a side track a few minutes when a swarm of large June bugs, attracted by the car lights, flew in through the windows. In five minutes the seats were nearly covered with the bugs, and they began to crawl around the legs of the passengers and to prove otherwise unpleasantly officious. In five minutes the insects had possession of the two cars and the passengers turned out. The problem which now presented itself was how to get the pests out of the cars before the train started. A fire was suggested and while the passengers gathered brushwood and kindled a roaring blaze, one of the brakemen went into the cars and put the lights out. The ruse was successful, the bugs deserted the cars and the passengers went back, shut down the windows and sat in darkness until the train started.—New York Commercial Advertiser

Ice Water.

The American people suffer more from kidney trouble than any other nation of the world. Part of this is due to the fact that they are large consumers of ice water, especially in summer. The effect upon the stomach and kidneys of suddenly chilling the small blood vessels is precisely the same effect as one experiences in taking cold. The blood vessels congest and inflamation sets in, in the effort to relieve the difficulty. If no relief is given and the process kept up in no long time the patient has Bright's Disease of the Kidneys. He has simply done by neglect what he would have accomplished if he had taken cold upon the lungs and neglected it, he has the consumption. At the first appearance of a trouble of this sort the patient should take Reid's German Cough and Kidney Cure according to directions. This stimulates the system and induces permanent cure. The danger in these cases arises from neglect in "letting them run." Every cold tends to weaken the vital organs. If the system is not strengthened and stimulated, every cold lays the foundation for more serious difficulty in the future. Persons whose stomach and digestive organs have been deranged by the excessive use of iced drinks will find Reid's German Cough and Kidney Cure a wonderful tonic. It acts at once and as there are no poisonous drugs in it—neither opium, morphine or cocoaine, there is not the slightest danger from an overdose. This can be said of but few cough remedies. So innocuous and pleasant is Reid's German Cough and Kidney Cure that persons have often taken the contents of an entire bottle in a day, without any ill effect whatever. For sale by all druggists

LOCAL AND INTERNAL TREATMENT.

In order to cure catarrh it is necessary to allay the inflammation of the irritated membranes with a soothing application, cleanse the head of the plugging mucous secretions, and heal the discharging ulcers. For cold in the head and nasal catarrh Dodds local treatment does this without the aid of snuff, douches or fumes. If the disease has extended downwards, affecting the bronchial tubes or lungs, digestion and blood, the internal treatment both removes from the system the scattered poison, and by its building-up properties assists nature in restoring the impaired parts. Send for our book treating on catarrh. FOSTER, MILBURN & Co, proprietors, Buffalo, N Y

A Few Pregnant Facts

The Revolutionary war cost the United States $135,193,703 The war of 1812 cost the United States $107,159,003 The Mexican war cost the United States $100,000,000

The colonies in the Revolution furnished from 1775 to 1783 395,064 troops The number of troops furnished for the war of 1812 was 471,622 and the number furnished for the Mexican war 101,282

In the war of the rebellion 2,859,132 men were enlisted for periods ranging from three months to three years The cost of the war of the rebellion was $6,189,929,900

The revolutionary war was waged on the part of the colonies to establish the principle that "All men are created free and equal and endowed by their creator with certain inalienable rights, among which are life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness" As soon as the colonies succeeded in the war of the revolution their Congress proceeded to protect that liberty and independence by placing a protective tariff on foreign goods for the purpose of diversifying their industries, and thus establishing business independence as well as moral independence On this point President Washington said "Their (a free people) safety and interest require that they should promote such manufactures as tend to render them independent of others for essential, particularly military supplies"

The war of the rebellion was waged to establish the dogma that the States are superior in power to the national government and incidentally that all men are not created free and equal—that the proper condition of labor is that the laborer should be owned by the person who employes it. In connection with these opinions those in rebellion held that no duties should be levied on imports for the purpose of protecting any industry The idea of free trade in this country has always gone hand in hand with the idea that the States are sovereign The same people in this country who went into rebellion and those who sympathized with them, whether at home or abroad favored free trade The same people who now deny the power of the government to protect its people, regardless of state lines, in their right to vote and have their votes counted, are in favor of free trade These facts are to some extent covered up by free trade sophists, but they are the facts of history nevertheless.

The war of 1812 grew out of the efforts of the United States to protect itself in its independence The war with Mexico grew out of the demand of the South that unless Texas was annexed the South would secede and was a foretaste of the calamities that the dogma of secession ultimately brought upon us

Who Is Responsible?

The Democratic party of the North is responsible for the existing cruelty, dishonesty and fraud which disfranchises the black man of the South If that wing of the Democratic party dared to stand up in a single National Democratic convention and refuse longer to serve as the tool and defender of southern outrages and southern opinions, these questions could be settled in a single campaign. A prominent Confederate who removed to the North, after the close of the war, said, a few years ago

"The mistake that the Democrats of the North made after the war closed was their failure to force into the first National Democratic platform the declaration that this is a Nation and not a Confederation of States Failing in this the northern Democracy were forced to become the hewers of wood and drawers of water for the South and to defend every act done and every opinion promulgated in that section no matter how antagonistic it may be to the opinions and interests of the North

OUR Democratic free traders persist in saying that if we buy largely of a nation, that nation will buy largely of us To defend their position as free-trade tariff disciples they are compelled to assume that this would be the result of taking off our protective tariff This with them is, however only a theory which is contradicted both by experience and fact Free coffee free hides and free rubber has not opened a market for one dollar s worth more of our products in the markets from whence these products which we admit come A proposition by our people in the pan American congress looking toward establishing a "customs union was rejected as by one voice on the part of South America The proposition to make sugar practically free is answered by Cuba with an increased duty on American flour All these facts prove beyond a reasonable doubt that the theory of the Democrats that other nations in view of concessions made by us, will reciprocate in kind, is all the meerest moonshine, and if any additional proof were needed, it can be found in the statement of Mr N J. Coleman, Cleveland's commissioner of agriculture, who says in his report for 1887

"No amount of advertising, no proffers of reciprocal trade no change of fiscal policy can force upon Europe another peck of wheat per capita scarcely another quart for many years to come unless unexpected disaster shall befall her crops

AN EASTERN CYCLONE

The City of South Lawrence, Mass, Laid Waste

MUCH LIFE AND PROPERTY DESTROYED

A Loss of $100 000 and No Insurance—Details of the Work of the Storm, and Lists of the Killed and Injured

LAWRENCE Mass July 27—A cyclone equaling in destructive power those so frequently reported from Western communities visited the suburbs of South Lawrence at about fifteen minutes past two o clock yesterday forenoon and in fifteen minutes had killed six people seriously injured fifteen, slightly injured twenty, cut a swath through a thickly populated section two hundred feet wide and a mile long; rendered five hundred people homeless, destroyed or greatly damaged from seventy five to one hundred buildings, and inflicted a loss of at least $100 000 all of which was uninsured against damage by wind or storm

South Lawrence is a busy railroad junction and is occupied mainly by well to do mechanics The northern boundary of the belt of destruction was but three streets south of the lofty mills with their busy throngs of thousands of workers, showing how narrow was the escape from a more appalling loss of life and property

It was a veritable dog day The air was hot and humid Dark clouds scurried westerly through the heavens with an intermittent rain Suddenly the wind veered to the west an inky black coal like cloud seemed to drop from the cumulous mass hanging through the west and moving rapidly with awful aspect toward the city It was accompanied by torrents of rain In an instant there came a crash Buildings were crushed like egg-shells Some were lifted from their foundations and dropped to pieces Others were tipped over The air was filled with the flying debris

Most of those who met death in the wreck were killed instantly Many lay unconscious

The survivors were too much horrified to know where or when the cyclone ended its course but the train of ruin in its path showed that it touched the earth at or near the cricket grounds It crossed Emmet street Broadway, the railroad and Parker street wrecking everything in its course

In Union square over 300 houses were leveled The storm passed over Shaw's river to the town of Andover where it exhausted itself in the trees and fences. The police station was at once notified and ambulances and a squad of officers started for the scene An alarm of fire was rung in and the firemen responded quickly and rendered valuable assistance in moving the injured from the ruins The ambulances carried several crushed human bodies to the hospital Others were taken to private houses

On Emmet street the wind took a house belonging to Mr Evans and threw it into the road a complete wreck Mr Evans and his wife were in the house at the time and met with no injury

No 6 was partly moved from its foundation the front of No 6 was a house occupied by James Lyons and family On the approach of the storm Lyons rushed into the house seized the baby from his wife s arms and fled to the street Both man and child escaped but the dead body of Mrs Lyons was subsequently taken from the ruins

Saunders Court near St Patrick s Church Hall a wooden structure was carried fifteen feet from its foundation and a few windows were broken in the parochial residence

At the foot of Saunders Court a switch house in which Michael Higgins the section boss was standing, was bodily carried away by the wind under the overhead railroad bridge crossing Salem street where Higgins fell out and was killed

The railing on his bridge was taken off as though cut with a knife

The granite sheds of W H Jones near the bridge was demolished

The house of Wm Cutler the foreman of the Boston & Maine shops was next demolished Miss Flossie Cutler was found in the cellar with a sprained ankle and Mrs Cutler was also slightly hurt Little Ella Cutler was crossing the Hall street bridge within a stone s throw of her home and was buried beneath a pile of lumber and ruin She was taken out dead

The greatest damage was done in Springfield street The following is a summary Springfield street—Nos 1, 2 15 and 18 were demolished

No occupied by Hugh A Merriman was totally wrecked and Mr Merriman wife and six children were badly shaken up and bruised

No 27 was smashed in and No 31 was completely demolished This house was occupied by Jeremiah O Connell, who was badly injured His wife and daughter were taken from the ruins dead

Nos and had their fronts stove in No 37 was also wrecked

Nos 4 43 and 44 were badly damaged Maria Quinn aged twelve received fatal injuries at No 46 The following were also badly damaged Nos 47 and 3 A woman Mrs James Brennan was severely injured in the head Mrs Flynn the landlady had her collar bone broken

At No 100 Mrs Carrie Bailey was cut Mrs Burnside was injured in her house No 105

All the houses on this street were more or less wrecked On Portland street Carroll & Casey s lumber yard was wrecked The gate keeper at the crossing was badly hurt

No occupied by William Collins was lifted from its foundations Mrs Collins and her six year old daughter Fannie were taken out dead Two other of Collins children were badly hurt

No 25 South Union street owned by P Lena, was lifted from its foundation and shattered

The house at No 39 Foster street was demolished. No 813 Market street was wrecked

In Union park five hundred to one thousand trees were destroyed In Andover one house was unroofed Trees were blown down and fences torn down The occupants of the ruined houses were mainly hard working mechanics and laborers

The engineer in the half past eight o'clock express from Boston, saw the cyclone as it was nearing South Lawrence and stopped his train thus really saving the terror stricken passengers

Fire started in one of the houses but was promptly put out

Following is a list of the dead
Michael Higgins aged thirty-five
Mrs Mary O Connell, aged thirty-four
Miss Mary O Connell
Mrs Elizabeth Collins
Annie Collins aged six
Hannah Beattie aged nine, killed in the house with the O Connells
Mrs Mary Lyons
Helen Cutler

A Hart is at the hospital in a dying condition

The following injured were taken to the hospital while many others were carried to private houses The names of the latter are not yet known Patrick Nugent Lizzie Oldsworth badly bruised, Minnie Reed, slightly injured about the head, Bridget McDermott scalp wounds, Mrs Campbell, lacerated breast, Mrs Mann scalp wound Ola Morgan, internal injuries Jimmie and Minnie McLaughlin badly bruised, Andrew Hart serious injuries on head will probably die Mrs Thibault, lacerated arm Ellen McLaughlin slight injuries Lizzie Morrisey spine injured

LAWRENCE, Mass July 28—The scene of Saturday's cyclone is unparalleled in the history of Lawrence From early morning till night yesterday thousands of teams surrounded it and a conservative estimate of the people present places the number at 40 000

At half past six o clock Saturday night Company F of the Ninth regiment came on duty and established a picket line around the wrecked district The police also patroled the ground At half-past six o clock yesterday morning Battery C First artillery relieved the infantry

The crowds were quiet and orderly, and gave the pickets little trouble The mayor aldermen and officials of surrounding towns congregated at military headquarters and remained all day issuing passes which were required of all coming within the lines also requisitions for supplies for the afflicted families

Adjutant General Dalton heard of the disaster at Concord and drove over the road arriving at eleven o clock He remained all day in company with Major Merrill looking after the comfort of the men Company L Eighth regiment North Andover tendered the mayor its services for guard duty The men were served with rations at headquarters

Press headquarters with a telephone were established at No 77 Springfield street City Marshall Vose wisely ordered the hotels to sell no liquor during the day and there was no drunkenness

More than 8 000 has already been subscribed to a relief fund Collections were taken in all the churches, and the ministers alluded to the calamity in their sermons A mass meeting has been called at the City Hall for Tuesday evening The Elks and other charitable societies have also called meetings to raise money for the sufferers All the patients in the hospital and orphan asylum are doing well It is thought that the little Quinn girl may live

Company F of the Ninth relieved Battery C at six o clock last night

THE MURDER OF M. MARINKOVITCH

Raising Questions of Diplomacy that It Will be Hard for the Porte to Answer—The Argentine Revolution.

LONDON July 28—The second note of the Servian Government to the Porte, strongly insisting that Turkey shall make reparation for the murder of M Marinkovitch the Servian Consul at Pristina has caused much anxiety in diplomatic circles, especially as it is known that Russia is behind the Servian note, and also owing to the justice of the demand A leading diplomat, who has served many years in the East in an interview Saturday regarding the matter said "The murder of M. Marinkovitch had as little cause for it as had the eviction and massacre of Servian villagers by which it was preceded Very definate and very strong reasons have been assigned for the outrages And as I, myself, narrowly escaped assassination in that very market place where M Marinkovitch was struck down, and during the politically very stormy days of my stay at Pristina had opportunities for becoming intimately acquainted with the conflicting ideas and aspirations of its inhabitants, —Ottoman, Albanian and Servian—I may perhaps be able to throw some light on incidents which have been preliminary skirmishes in a coming war rather than crimes of the unfortunate gypsies of whom the Ottoman authorities are endeavoring to make scapegoats The political situation will hardly, however, be understood without some prefatory remarks on the geographical situation One reaches Pristina from Globondari, a station on the Salonica Mitoovitsa railway and Globondari on the verge of the great Plateau and historic battlefield of Kossovo (1389) and within an hour s distance by rail of the frontier of Bosnia and the land of the Servians The Albanians so determinedly resisted the proposal to bring the railway, and hence Servian or Austrian troops, within easy distance of Pristina, that one has an hour's ride on horse-back or jolt in an Araban from the station to the town As one approaches Pristina, the most conspicuous feature of the view is afforded by the minarets of the eleven mosques, erected, as they say by the Ottoman women whose husbands fell in the great battle on the adjoining Plateau—the battle that shattered the short lived Servian empire (1350-1389) of Stephen Dashan and laid its subjects prostrate at the feet of Sultan Murad Now it is true that the battle of the Kossovo is an old story and it is true also that the Servian empire endured very little more than a single generation and yet incredible as it may seem to those who believe only in material forces, the fact is that the memory of that empire and the shame of that defeat, are to this day among the most powerful political forces in Southwestern Europe If, however, the vanquished passionately desire that the great mountain ring plateau of Kossovo with the rolling downs that adjoin it should again be included in the Servian realm, no less passionately do the victors of Kossovo desire to retain in their possession the battle fields of, for them, glorious memories The tomb of Sultan Murad, the conqueror of Kossovo, now stands where stood his tent on the battle-field Four years ago an important though provisional compact was entered into, founded on that affair of five hundred years ago

Servians Bulgarians and Greeks came to a sort of provisional understanding that not only Kossovo and Pristina, but Uskup and all the Albanian country down to Ochrida should go to Servia and a new map of the "future of the Balkan peninsula" is now in my hands in which this and further suggested arrangements, opposed to Albanian notional aspirations—and particularly a portion of Albania, giving the southern half to Greece are set forth in literally vivid colors Many of the chiefs of the Albanian league are men of great natural endowments and some of very considerable culture They are not in ignorance of the mutual understanding of the enemies by whom they are surrounded in the northwestern corner of Macedonia Nor are they men very likely to be particulary scrupulous about the means employed to express their own national aspirations and to disconcert arrangements opposed to these desires The reasons, then, for the murder of the Servian Consul at Pristina also for the massacre of Servian villages, by which it was preceded are now very evident Both sides are aware that the Servian claim to Kossovo and the adjoining country can not be maintained unless it can be shown "that this district is still occupied by a considerable Servian population, hence, with a view to "eventualize" the Servians aim in increasing the number of their compatriots in this region, while the Albanians are no less determined not only to prevent such increase but to diminish if possible, the existing Servian population With this view the Albanians have for years past done everything they easily could to make the lives of Servians on this borderland uncomfortable And as, notwithstanding every sort of petty annoyance, the Servians will not emigrate, but continue, on the contrary, to immigrate eviction massacre and murder were resolved upon as a decisive means of getting rid of villagers on whose existence a claim might be founded for handing over to Servia a part of Albania The murders, however, place the Turkish Government in a difficult position and seriously threaten the peace in the Balkan peninsula

METHODISM EXTRAORDINARY.

A Horse Race at Which a Preacher Takes Nearly All the Prizes

SARANAC, Mich, July 27—The horse-racing under Methodist ministerial auspices 'caught on' in public favor and Saranac was completely filled with people yesterday to witness Rev J W Arney s driving matinee Most of Mr Arney s flock regard his ideas on horse racing as being rather in advance of the Methodist belief, but no eruption has occurred in his church here The people as a whole seem to have crude ideas of their own, and yell 'go" at a horse race and shout and sing at camp meeting with equal ease and grace

The races in themselves were fairly attractive, but the fact that Parson Arney had them in charge, and was foremost in bringing the event to a successful termination made the affair unusually interesting Sinners and saints alike turned out to witness the day's sport.

In the three minute class, best three in five, half mile heats Rev Mr Arney's mare Aimee, captured the race in straight heats, amid the prolonged cheers of the spectators

A proposition was made to cut the colt race short owing to the limited time, when the crowd called to Mr. Arney to finish the race to-day, Sunday This caused him to look grave There was no open betting or gaming on the grounds

In an interview Parson Arney said that he had been active in getting the race up because no one else did it, and he wanted it done As to racing, he was born to enjoy it and was sorry it had been so much abused Good people had never thought it wrong for him to try his own speed at foot races while at college, and he asked why they should object to his trying the speed of his horses.

First Cremated and then Buried at Sea.

NEW YORK, July 27—Captain Bearse Cromwell, of the Cromwell Steamship Line died at his home in Brooklyn on July 2, and three days later his body was cremated at the Fresh Pond Crematory Prior to his death he expressed a wish that his ashes should be buried at sea On Thursday his widow bearing the vase containing his ashes, boarded the steamer Taurus and went to Long Branch On the way back she told Captain Hobbs what she desired When off Highland Light the Taurus was hove to and the flags placed at half mast. Captain Hobbs made a brief address, and the vase was lowered into seven fathoms of water, the cover being removed so that the ashes might be washed out. The Taurus then proceeded to New York

BROKE IN AGAIN.

A Boy Burglar Caught in the Act —Behind the Bars.

Young Frank McCormick, the 14-year-old boy, who while in jail some weeks ago fell off the upper-tier cell landing and came near dying from injuries received by striking the stone flagging below, is again a prisoner in the county jail. He was first put in jail on a charge of burglariously entering a man's house in the east end of the city. After he was hurt he was taken to his home, where he recovered. Sunday night young McCormick was caught in the house of the man whose house he had first been arrested for robbing and the gentleman held on to him until placed in charge of Officer Koeppe, who brought him up town this morning and had him put in jail. It is said that the boy had been known to enter the house recently once before, and that the occupants set a watch for him last night The screen was fastened but it was cut, and the boy got inside While in the room the watchers came upon him and took him in charge.

The Big Minstrels

Wednesday night there will be three hours of fun and music at the Grand, when Primrose & West's big minstrels will appear before the footlights in a great bill The Indianapolis Sentinel of July 26th said

That negro minstrelsy has not lost its popularity in Indianapolis was abundantly demonstrated last night at the Grand opera house, when the 'standing room only' sign was displayed at the box office half an hour before the curtain arose. The attraction was Primrose & West's company which gave a highly enjoyable performance, including a number of brilliant novelties Lew Dockstader George Primrose and other old favorites were seen in their specialties and the entertainment was in every way a pleasing one

The Calumet Fire.

Saturday evening the public was startled again on hearing that the Grand opera house was on fire and in a surprisingly short time South Water street was blocked by fire apparatus and people There was a big scare but no fire in sight. Since the recent fire in the block the Calumets have been busily engaged in making repairs. They were completed Saturday and during the afternoon the gas fitters adjusted the chandelier in the parlor It was not screwed up to the highest notch and in the test for leaking gas the fitter failed to notice a little blue jet at the joint. It was scarcely perceptible and it was left burning to eat away the direct communication with the gas which flowed out and caused a big blaze and scorched the corrugated iron ceiling for some distance around the chandelier. There was no one in the rooms at the time, but Frank Davis and a plumber, who saw the fire through the open window from the street, hurried up the stairway and stopped the threatened conflagration by turning off the gas at the meter The damage is slight

THE Sunday school of the Presbyterian church will picnic in the old fair grounds on Thursday of this week The College Street Chapel Sunday school will picnic at the same place on Friday of this week.

STILL AFTER HIM

The Man Who Perpetrated the Outrage on Mrs Foster

Saturday night a Mr. Curry called up Henry Lyon, the grocer, by telephone, asking if the man had been captured who had assaulted Mrs. Julia Foster July 21, six miles west of Decatur The grocer couldn't understand the query at first, and it took him some time to realize that Mr Curry was then at Pawnee in Sangamon county, and that he and three other farmer neighbors of A. S. Foster had been out since Wednesday scouring the country for the scoundrel. They had been unable to run down the man, and naturally they wanted to know how the search was progressing in Decatur Mr Curry is a customer of Lyon and he called him up instead of calling up Marshal Mason The Marshal, however, had a talk with the party at Pawnee Sunday morning, at which time the Marshal got word from Rochester, south of Springfield, that the officers there had a suspect in custody who answered the description The officers would not promise to bring the prisoner to Decatur, although there is a reward of $50 offered for the arrest and conviction of the guilty party The Marshal communicated with Mr Foster, and Sunday forenoon that gentleman and a farmer friend started for Rochester in a spring wagon to drive the distance of 32 miles The Rochester suspect may prove to be the right party

The officers in Decatur are constantly on the alert No possible clew will be overlooked and every rumor, however unpromising, will be sifted to the bottom

The Union rooms were packed Sunday afternoon at the service in memory of the distinguished standard-bearer of the prohibitionists in '88 J R. Gorin presided, and Rev. J. A. F. King made an impressive opening prayer. D L Bunn had a large choir which furnished inspiring and appropriate music. Rev James Miller spoke of Mr Fisk as a representative of the M E. church, and emphasized the fact that he was a model christian in private, public and political life. W. C. Outten spoke of his political convictions, his connection with the abolition movement, with the Republican party, and finally as the leader for the prohibitionists. S. S Ewing made a brief talk, giving personal recollections of General Fisk, Mr Ewing having been a member of his Sunday school at Coldwater, Mich He emphasized the fact that General Fisk was always the friend of the poor and true to his convictions. Rev C H. Sheen, of the A M E church, spoke eloquently and earnestly on the General's connection with the freedmen's bureau, the founding of Fisk University, and of his labors to advance the interests of the colored people of America Mr. Sheen's address would have been a credit to any place or any occasion.

THE sensational feature of the service at the Salvation Army camp meeting last evening was the flourishing of a whisky bottle which the lady speaker said she had just taken from the pocket of a man seeking religion She made the most of the evil of intemperance, and exhorted everybody to forsake sin and seek salvation which is freer than whisky or beer. Two of the Army captains will be married at the Park on Wednesday.

Reverence for Rascals.

The fact is that there is altogether too much reverence for rascals and for rascally methods on the part of tolerably decent people Rascality is picturesque, doubtless, and in fiction it has even its moral uses but in real life it should have no toleration, and it is as a matter of fact seldom accompanied by the ability that it brags

One proof that the smart rogue is not so smart as he thinks and as others think is that he so often comes to grief. He arrives at his successes through his knowledge of the evil in men he comes to grief through his ignorance of the good in men He thinks he knows human nature ' but he only half knows it Therefore he is constantly in danger of making a fatal mistake For instance his excuse to himself for lying and trickery is that lying and trickery are indulged in by others—even by some men who make a loud boast of virtue before the world

A little more or less of lying and trickery seems to make no difference he assumes—especially so long as there is no public display of lies and tricks—for he understands that there must always be at least an outward propriety in order to insure even the inferior kind of success he is aiming at

But having no usable conscience to guide him he underrates the sensitiveness of their consciences—and especially the sensitiveness of that vague sentiment called public opinion —and he makes a misc[al]culation, which if it does not land him in the penitentiary at least makes him of no use to his respectable allies therefore of no use to his semi criminal associates therefore a surprised miserable and vindictive failure —Century Magazine

The Good Old Times

Under Henry I coiners of false money were punished by the loss of their right hands and other mutilations of various kinds were in common use In 1160 we hear of heretics who had refused to abjure their faith being handed over to the church by the civil authorities to be branded with a hot iron on the forehead have their clothes torn off from the waist up and be whipped through the public streets Boycotting was at that time a legal practice whatever it may be now for the said heretics were not only forbidden to worship as they desired but forbidden to enter the houses of orthodox believers or even to purchase the necessaries of life

The popular notion of the crusaders as an army of Bayards sans peur et sans reproche is hardly consistent with the code of criminal law which Richard Cœur de Lion enacted for the especial benefit of those with whom he set out for holy Palestine If any one of them were convicted of theft boiling pitch was to be poured over his head, then a pillow full of feathers shaken over him and he was to be abandoned at the first port the vessel touched Whoever killed another on board ship was to be tied to the corpse and cast into the sea, whoever killed another on shore was to be tied to the corpse and buried with it A blow was to be punished by three duckings in the sea and the use of the knife in a quarrel caused the aggressor to lose one of his hands —All the Year Round

He Gets There in Seventeen Ways

I can swim seventeen different ways some of which come under the head of fancy swimming As a gymnast can go through his regular performances can I change rapidly from one style of swimming to another For a hundred yard race I recommend the American over hand side stroke I admit that some say the turtle stroke is the fastest of the two but I really think the side stroke is the fastest in the world With the over hand side stroke I swam 100 yards in one minute and fifteen seconds while the turtle stroke occupied just one and one fifth seconds longer I have found the turtle stroke very hard to keep up because the movements are quicker than the side stroke movements In a race always try to keep on the left side of your opponent with your eye on him so he cannot make a spurt and get away from you —Gus Sundstrom in New York Mail and Express

A Horse with a Big Mouth

At Rome Ga while a horse was loose in the stable one of his hind feet got caught in his mouth It is supposed that the animal was rubbing the flies from his nose with his hind foot, when by accident the foot passed into the mouth The hoof was shod with a heavy iron and the sharp corners of the shoe made five or six very painful wounds in the mouth The animal fell to the ground and continued to struggle without relief When it was discovered he was covered with foam and showed every sign of a fearful struggle His master came and succeeded in extracting the foot —Exchange

We Eat Lots of Peanuts

The average yield of peanuts appears to be about fifty bushels to the acre although it sometimes goes as high as seventy five and falls as low as twenty five The value to the producer of the crop of 1889 90 is estimated at not less than $3,000,000 A simple calculation will show that the daily consumption of peanuts in the United States is about 400,000 pounds or ten carloads representing an expenditure by the consumer of from $20,000 to $30,000 daily —St Louis Post Dispatch

The odor of ambergris is not unlike musk but more penetrating and also more enduring Every one knows how difficult it is to remove the musk odor from anything which has ever been touched with the oil of the rat It is much more difficult to get rid of the odor of genuine ambergris This accounts for its great value to the manufacturers of perfumery

Pronounced Hopless, Yet Saved

From a letter written by Mrs Ada E. Hurd of Groton, S D, we quote "Was taken with a bad cold, which settled on my Lungs, cough set in and finally terminated in Consumption. Four doctors gave me up saying I could live but a short time I gave my self up to my Saviour, determined if I could not stay with my friends on earth, I would meet my absent ones above My husband was advised to get Dr King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds I gave it a trial, took in all eight bottles, it has cured me and thank God I am now a well and hearty woman" Trial bottles free at King & Wood's Drugstore, regular size, 60c and $1 00

A Snake That Milked a Cow.

A resident of Sunset avenue has been greatly annoyed by the unexpected and unnatural failure of his cow to give any milk at night Late Sunday afternoon he observed a large snake milking his cow which with some difficulty he captured It was a curious looking snake, whitish and blue in color When it died its mouth was wide open and stiffened in that way, disclosing in its throat as pretty a milk strainer formed of a bony growth as one would wish to see —Meigs County (O) Tribune

Only a few ancient engraved turquoises are known They are in cameo and busts and not in intaglio In ancient times the stone was thought to bring health and good fortune to the wearer and many occult virtues were ascribed to it De Boot who wrote in 1609 states that no gentleman thought himself properly attired in his time without wearing a fine turquoise Singular to say, he adds that the ladies did not wear them In mediæval times it was supposed to change color as the state of health of its owner changed

HAS been saved by the prompt use of Ayer's Pills Travelers by land or sea are liable to constipation or other derangements of the stomach and bowels which if neglected, lead to serious and often fatal consequences The most sure means of correcting these evils is the use of Ayer's Cathartic Pills. The prudent sailing master would as soon go to sea without his chronometer as without a supply of these Pills Though prompt and energetic in operation, Ayer's Pills leave no ill effects they are purely vegetable and sugar coated, the safest medicine for old and young, at home or abroad

For eight years I was afflicted with constipation which at last became so bad that the doctors could do no more for me Then I began to take Ayer's Pills and soon the bowels recovered their natural and regular action, so that now I am in

health —Mrs C E Clark, Tewksbury, Massachusetts

I regard Ayer's Pills as one of the most reliable general remedies of our times They have been in use in my family for affections requiring a purgative and have given unvarying satisfaction We have found them an excellent remedy for colds and light fevers "—W F Woodson Fort Worth, Texas

For several years I have relied more upon Ayer's Pills than upon anything else in the medicine chest, to regulate my bowels and those of the ship's crew These Pills are not severe in their action but do their work thoroughly I have used them with good effect for the cure of rheumatism, kidney troubles and dyspepsia "—Capt Mueller, Steamship Felicia, New York City

I have found Ayer's Cathartic Pills to be a better family medicine for common use than any other pills within my knowledge They are not only very effective but safe and pleasant to take —qualities which must make them valued by the public "—Jules Hauel, Perfumer Philadelphia Pa
